Lynne Lancaster worked with our Diversity, Inclusion and Belonging Executive Council to expertly craft a virtual presentation on Generational Differences in the Workplace. She navigated the nuances of working with different generations, and the value we each bring to the workplace, all while captivating a virtual audience. The engagement via chat, polling questions and the Q&A forum were amazing. Lynne surpassed our expectations!

Lynne did her homework to tailor two different presentations for us, one for our students and another for our local business leaders. Her content was engaging and informative while providing us with actionable tools we could apply immediately in our work and our lives.

Lynne was just wonderful. She was so generous with her time, and her message resonated loud and clear. I just love it when the audience really engages with a speaker, and that was the case with Lynne. There is just something about the generations topic that really captures everyone's attention. I guess it's because we can all see ourselves, and also those we work with!
